Admin Logs

Admin Logs capture all the details of the logged-in user transactions activity where the configuration has been changed. It works like an audit trail on the configuration screen to identify the user who modified it and when the modification has been done. The browse includes the following columns.